I had a tiny, round, glass bowl so I filled it with the colored gravel and plastic greenery that was included in the kit and then just added some water and the fish and it looks like a real mini aquarium on my desk. I find it very relaxing to wave the rod around and watch the fish float around and spin. Its really cute if you need to decorate your desk or a corner spot. Its my minor distraction while waiting for the computer to download :)!1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Cute but a waste of money.By KRISTA W.None of the magnets would stick. The paper wouldn't stay. It was a cute idea but just a waste of money. :(2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. OK toyBy beaShipping took a little longer than expected.. BUT overall a great toy! I bought it for myself Thinking it looked cool and is cool! So after I set it up with the fish and everything the magnetic force with the fish and the wand was OKAY, but I had some stronger magnets and connected it to the wand to let it work a little better . THE backgrounds are a sunken ship, a dead guy (I thought was a little inapropiated), And a shark. The plant is a little clunky with the little space so if you want it for decoration leave the plant in, if not, take it out. But great, fun, entertaing toy. Hope you enjoy!

They don't require allergy shots, expensive pet sitters, or diamond-studded collars. Desktop fish are the perfect pets and will always be there to entertain you, even if you forget to feed them for months on end! Following on the heels of underwater mania following Finding Nemo and Shark Tales, and the popularity of virtual pets, this desktop aquarium will be a fun addition to the workplace. It also makes a great gift for animal lovers. Kit includes two magnetic fish, magnetic wand to make fish swim, plant, gravel, 4 playful backgrounds, and 32-page booklet.
